

DAILY

LOUISVILLE

DEMOCRAT.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, SUNDAY MORNING, JULY 1, 1860.

NUMBER 297.

The jubilant effusions over the Breckinridge and Lane ticket are exceedingly ill-placed. They are from the same quarters whence blunders have flowed in constant succession for the last two or three years. Their authors are awfully mistaken in the people. They have shown this from first to last. They have uniformly taken for approved what has only been tolerated by them undertaken now to defy the regularities of their party, and to defy its antecedents and its creed. They will be a most contemptuous people to encounter when they see the end of the race. Their ticket hasn't got the ghost of a chance to carry a slave State, except South Carolina, and, perhaps, Florida; and this ticket would not carry South Carolina, but for the fact that the Legislature, and not the people, determine the result.

The Journal pronounces Douglas and Johnson a sectional ticket, because, as that paper alleges, it will not carry a slave State. We shall see about that. Breckinridge must get more votes in other parts of Kentucky than he will get in this district, if he can defeat Douglas in Kentucky. How it is with the Bell and Everett ticket? Is any on green enough to suppose it will get even a respectful vote in any free State? Will the Journal name one in which it will get the per cent. of the vote? Is not Bell and Everett ticket, then, according to the Journal's showing, the most sectional ticket in the field, hardly exceeding Lincoln and Hamlin?

The Yancey, in his speech at Baltimore and his sanguine old-fashioned paternity? At Baltimore, in 1848, there was a body that nominated General Cass, which was supposed to be Democratic, and it received Mr. Yancey's old-fashioned Democracy, by a vote of seven to one. A Convention met at the same place in 1852, which did not even consider this old-fashioned Yancey Democracy. In 1856, a body, supposed to be Democratic, repeated what was done at Baltimore in 1848. If old al, Yancey Democracy is very old.

The Cost of the Japanese.—Philadelphia expended $8,000 only in the reception and entertainment of the Japanese. New York, however, has gone into the business a wholesale style. The wine bill at the ball will reach $20,000; the cost of the ball was $1,100.

It is estimated that $6,000 will hardly cover the expense to date.

The Frankfort Yeoman objects to a paragraph in which we suggested the willingness for the opposition to vote for Douglass.

The Yeoman's candidate will be willing to get votes from any source before he reaches Kentucky, or any other State North or South.

Let the conservative Union-loving men of all parties bear in mind that Douglass is the only man who writes a fine, tenable ground of national character. The Bell and Lane platform is too vague to satisfy us.

An exquisite poem this, full of delicate feeling, pathos and beauty. "Lulu" and "Lillian" are sister poets. We hope they may ever sing as sweetly.

Floating over the Soft Blue Waters.

BY LILLIAN.
Foothills of the soft blue water,
Neath the moon's pale light,
I am a swan, a swan-like bird,
With a swan-like flight.

Now, as I float along,
I am a swan, a swan-like bird,
With a swan-like flight.

Now, as I float along,
I am a swan, a swan-like bird,
With a swan-like flight.
